

Learning To Love What You Do

1

WHICH ONE ARE YOU?

2

3

- Take actions without expecting reward
- Don't take yourself so seriously
- Forgive the limitations of others

4

- Say thank you more frequently
- Don't dwell on the negative

5

Avoid Complacency

- Stretch yourself past your limits every day
- Look for ways to improve skills and position
- Use setbacks to improve your skills
- Verbalize your desires to improve

6

7

Keep it Exciting!

- Change your routine
- Goof off a little with team members
- Set some goals
- Do something for someone else

8

9

FOCUS ON OTHERS

10

FOCUS ON OTHERS

11

FOCUS ON OTHERS

12

Question

- How does my job affect and/or influence others?
- Patients
- Team Members

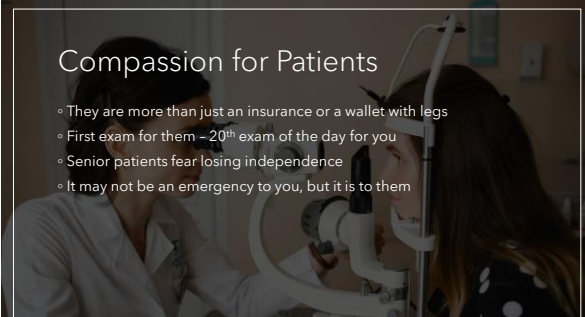

13

COMPASSION

14

Compassion for Patients

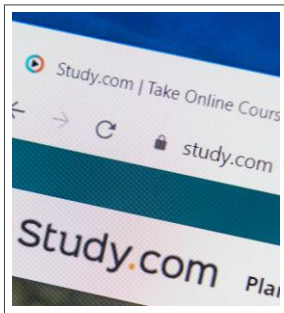

- They are more than just an insurance or a wallet with legs
- First exam for them – 20th exam of the day for you
- Senior patients fear losing independence
- It may not be an emergency to you, but it is to them

15

16

Never Stop Learning

- Stretch yourself to learn new skills
- Would you like to cross train for other positions
- Find educational opportunities
- Find a mentor
- Make someone better than yourself
- Read, read, read!

17

18

19

20

21

22

You always have a choice in how you view your work

It can be a job or a never-ending opportunity to learn, grow, and serve those around you

23

24
